Course 2: Managing the Classroom

Superior skills as a consultant, software developer, and certification standards are a given; as are excellent communication skills. But that is not enough!

SYS-ED/Computer Education Techniques, Inc. requires that its teachers:

- Communicate ideas.
- Demonstrate discipline.
- Are punctual.
- Project positive values.
- Relate to their audiences.
- Have a passion for what they teach.
- Exhibit positive body energy as they speak.
- Have a superior ability to provide knowledge exchange.
- Are committed to getting things correct.
- Are committed to improve all aspects of the course each time that it is taught.
- Are team players with other SYS-ED instructors.
- Care about their students.
